Acies Ordinata

Editor, The Remnant: I cannot tell you how much I admire all of you for standing up to Francis and his ilk. God bless and keep you in His loving arms. Whatever would we do without your courageous stand!

Karen Giannettino

Editor, The Remnant: Father Zuhlsdorf was out of line; I won't speculate on his reasons, but out of line nonetheless.

Thank you for this.

David Anthony Domet
Vox Cantoris Blog

Editor, The Remnant: I am praying for the organizers of the Acies Ordinata, especially your friend and ally, Roberto de Mattei.

In addition, I am forwarding your email and YouTube video to Conservative Catholics in Brazil.

God Bless you.

José Henrique Paul Dmyterko

New Year's Greetings from the remnant throughout the world

Editor, The Remnant: Happy New Year to to all!

Kind regards, and may God bless you, The Remnant Newspaper, and all your subscribers and readers in 2020!

Editor, The Remnant: Vincent Chiarello's review of "The Last Crusade: Spain 1936" was excellent. He adds some missing details to Warren Carroll's work which made the review worth reading.

After reading it I wondered if the Spanish government knows what it may be stirring up. Their decision to remove Franco from his grave may unwittingly raise the spirit of their greatest enemy. Sometimes the enemies of God end up doing his work.

Kind regards,

Bill Choquette

Editor, The Remnant: You asked for feedback and hoped we would like the first RTV of 2020. You have surely begun the new year with an inspiring epistle. May it be seen and heard far and wide. There is, it appears, some movement of the poor Catholic sheep towards a recognition of the Church's dire plight.

We see our traditional Mass growing and more priests who are learning and saying this Mass. Some of these are newly ordained young men who appreciate the beauty of the Traditional Mass and have made an effort to learn and say it with precision and devotion.

We hear less excuse making for the audacious mutterings of this Pope and people inquiring about aspects of traditionalism.

Considering the last 50 years this is going to be a monumental task to restore what has been corrupted and stolen from us.

May God bless you for all of your heartfelt efforts, hard hitting videos and well placed humor. And may He grant you the stamina and wisdom to keep fighting the good fight.

Viva Christo Rey,

Joan L.

Editor, The Remnant: Happy New Year to you and your family and all the people like you who continue to practice the Catholic Faith in the Universal Language of Latin with the Priest facing the Altar. In my youth until Vatican 2, Churches were packed and no shortage of Vocations to the Holy Priesthood and Religious Life.

Now as you rightly say, not enough Vocations and Lapsed Catholics with Churches only a quarter full and now in Ireland Priests from Africa and India as Parish Priests because little or no vocations.

I also in my own small way produce videos with a similar message to yours. You have supporters throughout the World and we will succeed in time.

May you continue in good health to fight the good fight.

God Bless.

Pray for Ireland

Editor, The Remnant: Thank you and your wonderful team for all your reporting on all things Catholic and sadly more things not-so-Catholic down through the last half century.

We're battle weary in Ireland and it's like fighting an uphill battle with no let up at all on any front.

Thank God for the Rosary and the blood of our martyrs and the ever-growing Latin Mass movement.

Were it not for them, Irish Catholics would find it hard to get up every morning. We're living through the utter destruction of our beautiful country.

Keep us in your prayers that we will keep the faith.

Our country is being 'governed' by lunatics.

God bless you,

Mary Moriarty

It's the Little Things

Editor, The Remnant: Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

While so many things are off kilter in the world these days, we still have much to be thankful for. As for gratitude to our King, today is such a day: First, I was able to assist at our local TLM for the Feast of His Holy Name.

Next, my family waved goodbye to President Trump as he drove up to the airport.

Then we celebrated Twelfthnight with a delicious almond pastry my wife made (Sophia found the nut and was queen for the night).

And lastly it has ended with a bonfire and Rosary to light the way to our creche for the Magi. What a day!

May His Peace be with you and the Remnant Family this year and always.

From South Florida,

Craig J. Paulitz

Should it be Conditional Resistance?

Editor, The Remnant: First, let me tell you how grateful I am to you and your vocation. I'm 60 years old and a convert to the Catholic Church, just 6 years ago.

Just prior to Election 2016, while surfing the net for Catholic discussions regarding the two candidates, I found a video by you. You struck me as level headed and genuine, but I wanted to know more about your "platform," if you will, and while reading up on you, discovered the Traditional Latin Mass!

(I occasionally joke with people that Donald Trump brought me to the Latin Mass...)

Anyway, through God's great grace, there's an FSSP parish very close to our home in San Diego, Saint Anne Catholic Church. Once my wife and I walked in, we never turned back. In fact, this old man has actually become an Altar Boy, humbly graced with assisting our Holy Priests at the Altar of God.

Since becoming Catholic, I've also
